Providing Consulting & Contract Services

SENIOR SHIPPING ACCOUNTANT

BULK FLEET OWNER/OPERATOR, NE USA

Our client is a recognized leader in specific dry-bulk commodities particularly metals, raw materials for steel production, scrap, and foodstuffs such as wheat and grains. They operate up to 30 vessels at a given time, mostly Handysize bulkers up to Panamax. These vessels trade globally but primarily intra-Americas, from Canada and the US to and from Central and South America. This is an opportunity to join a growth and results-oriented ship owning team with a proven track record in the industry in an attractive coastal setting and a high quality of life factor.

The Senior Accountant will be part of the company's leadership team, responsible for accounting, controls, planning, budgeting and cost accounting as well as other areas in finance and report to the company's Chief Financial Officer. Ideal candidates will be CPA's and have experience working in the shipping industry.

Given the congenial nature of this private company, the ideal candidate will work well in small teams and have a strong grasp of the shipping industry and global markets generally. The client prefers a candidate who is results-driven and task-focused.

The company is open to candidates that would require relocation and also offers a full benefit package.

Qualified candidates send copy of resume and cover letter to jobs@ketchrecruiting.com
